“BIG IDEAS” - TEDx COMES TO CHARLOTTE

CHARLOTTE - The first TEDx event in Charlotte will take place in September 2010 in the uptown area. Themed “Big Ideas,” the event will bring together innovative thinkers--business leaders, artists, scientists, designers, philanthropists and educators--who are actively applying their ideas and bringing about positive change in Charlotte and our region.

Attendance is by invitation only and applications are available on TEDxCharlotte.com. There is no cost to attend.

The event will consist of 6-8 speakers (live and video) with short breaks between, lunch and pre- and post-event hospitality. There will be entertainment and opportunities for speakers and attendees to connect throughout the day.

Visit TEDxCharlotte.com for a list of confirmed speakers, additional event information, directions, updates and to join the TEDxCharlotte community. You can also connect with TEDxCharlotte on Facebook and Twitter (@TEDxCharlotte).

Says steering committee chair, Candice Langston, “TEDxCharlotte is an opportunity to celebrate our richly creative community and at the same time shine a bright light on the innovative people and ideas that contribute to a great quality of life in Charlotte and the region.”

ABOUT TEDx

In the spirit of ideas worth spreading, TEDx is a program of local, self-organized events that bring people together to share a TED-like experience. At a TEDx event, TEDTalks video and live speakers combine to spark deep discussion and connection in a small group. These local, self-organized events are branded TEDx, where x=independently organized TED event. The TED Conference provides general guidance for the TEDx program, but individual TEDx events are self-organized.
